PROPOSALS

For Publishing, by Subscription,
THE COMPLETE WORKS OF

SIR WALTER SCOTT:

With a Biography: being the first American (and only) edition which contains the Author's last additions and illustrations, arranged upon their respective pages.

A COMPLETE and uniform edition of the various productions of the great 'Minstrel of the North,' is a desideratum with the American public. No library is complete without them, and no edition extant is sufficiently compact for such a repository; while the endless number of editions, without any uniformity in size, heretofore published, besides being exceedingly cumbrous, are far too voluminous and expensive to be within the reach of the great majority of readers. The undersigned therefore announce, that they have now in press, and will issue, an edition of the Works of Sir Walter Scott, which will embrace all his Poems, Novels, Histories, Biographies, and Fugitive Compositions, as well as the Biography and Private Correspondence, now in the course of publication in England, under the superintendence of Mr. Lockhart.

1st. In Parts: each Part embracing as much matter as is contained in two volumes of the present editions of the Waverley Novels, which will be put at the unprecedented low price of THIRTY SEVEN AND A HALF CENTS.

2d. Two parts will appear each month; but should the publishers find the work to meet the patronage they anticipate, FOUR PARTS will be issued monthly.

3d. The whole will be completed in seven volumes, or forty eight parts.

The paper on which the above is now printing, has been made expressly for the purpose; the present parts may, therefore, be considered a fair specimen, in every respect, of the whole work; but, should dissatisfaction arise with any subscriber, owing to an inferior article being offered, he may discontinue at any time, and have the amount paid returned.

Note.—The publication of the first volume is deferred until the receipt of the Biography, Private Correspondence, and the New Edition of the Author's Poetical Works, with 'contemporary criticism—various readings—and correspondence with some of the most eminent persons of the time when the Poems first appeared,' now in the course of publication in England.

Volume 1 will be ornamented with an excellent Portrait of Sir Walter Scott.

JOB PRINTING

EXECUTED, with neatness and despatch, at the Office of the PITTSBURGH GAZETTE. April 26

DAILY PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON, SEPTEMBER 5.

THE FAIR.—We have several times visited the rooms in which the ladies of our city are now exhibiting, for sale, the products of their taste, their skill, and their industry, and we were delighted by the brilliant display of beautiful and fashionable as well as useful articles. Certainly not the least interesting part of the exhibition was the presence of the Orphans themselves, now in charge of the society. The determination to have them there, was certainly judicious; it gave occular demonstration to the visitors that there were, already, in the care of the society, a number of fatherless and motherless children; and their healthy and comfortable appearance gave assurance that their welfare might safely be entrusted to the society.—We are pleased to learn that the sales exceed the most liberal calculations.

We find the following remark in the last Statesman, in relation to the recent outrageous attack upon Avery Allyn:—

"Mr. Allyn has not been suffered to perform in this city; and, we regret to state, that such is the excitement of public feeling, that we do not think that he can or will be permitted to give a public exhibition among us."

We feel it to be due to the character of our city to state, that no such excitement exists here—that but few persons were engaged in the recent outrage, and that their conduct is very generally condemned, and viewed as disgraceful.

NEW YORK ENTERPRIZE.—The following article we take from the last American Sentinel:

"A second packet ship, bound to Natchez, from New York, sailed from the latter port on Thursday last, under the command of Capt. Brewer—with a cargo of merchandise valued at from 3 to 400,000 dollars. The St. Louis, which sailed on the 7th inst., for the same port, had a cargo of still greater value for that flourishing market.

"Truly these New Yorkers are spirited and speculative; and deserve the estimation in which they are generally held, and the emoluments they usually receive. But what say Philadelphia and Baltimore? Can we not attempt a competition with our rival citizens—or must we merge our news, our trade, our literature, our science, and our spirit in theirs? No, truly: we also must have our tow boats and steam boats; and urge into successful practice the energy and enterprize we possess. But when?"

We are pleased to see this paragraph: it evinces the proper feeling—it shews that the grasping ambition of the New Yorkers—their efforts to monopolize the trade of the West are beginning to attract the attention of the citizens of Philadelphia. The questions, "Can we not attempt competition with our rival citizens—or must we merge our news, our trade, our literature, our science, and our spirit in theirs?" are pertinent and proper. The concluding question, "But when?" is also pertinent, but the writer gives no reply to it. We would say, immediately. There is no propriety, no safety, in delay.

The New York merchants, in the spirit of monopoly, seem to be pursuing precisely the same plan of operations which the ambition of the French Government adopted eighty years ago.—At that time, our northern neighbors, having extended themselves from the Atlantic to the shores of Lake Erie, and having established themselves along the Mississippi, attempted to circumscribe completely the British colonies, by a line of well selected forts, extending from Lake Erie to the Mississippi. In this way they expected confine the to citizens of these colonies to narrow limits, and cut off all intercourse between them and the native tribes beyond their line of posts. Their designs were immediately understood and resisted. At Pittsburgh, the first struggle in opposition to them took place—and at Pittsburgh, the first success crowned the efforts of the colonies, in the capture of Fort Du Quesne, by which the line of communication between the French posts on the Lakes and on the Mississippi was broken.

Now the New Yorkers, having established themselves at Buffalo and at Cleveland, at New Orleans and Natchez, are endeavoring to circumscribe the commerce of Pennsylvania, and secure it to New York—not by a line of well selected military posts, but by judiciously located canals and rail ways from the lake to the Ohio.

We confidently trust that this great scheme of monopoly of the New Yorkers will also be understood and defeated. We trust that the advantages which nature has given to Pennsylvania will be duly improved, and that the line of limitation, which our northern neighbors propose to draw around our commercial operations, will be intersected by a work which shall extend from the Ohio, at Pittsburgh, to the Lake.

We feel no fear as to the result of the contest for the immense trade of the west. Eventually, the necessary exertions will be made—eventually, the great work from Pittsburgh to Lake Erie, and the Ohio Canal, will be completed. Then all the labors and expense of the New Yorkers will redound to the advantage of Pennsylvania; and then the trade of the great west will be as certain to flow towards Philadelphia as summer and winter succeed each other. "But when," asks the Sentinel. The sooner the better. Every year's delay directs to New York a portion of the trade of the west, establishes intercourse and connection in business, and renders more difficult the success of Pennsylvania in this competition.

The Bank.—Every body has heard of the unfortunate wight at the whipping post, whom the constable found it so difficult to please in the application of the cat-o'-nine-tails. At first the officer struck too high, and then too low, and finally there was no such thing as pleasing the culprit.—It is just so with the Bank of the United States. Do what they can, the Directors are unable to satisfy the pensioned brawlers against the Institution. If they are liberal in their discounts, the object is bribery, or to encourage speculation, or to injure the community by the promotion of over trading. If, in the exercise of a prudent forecast, they discount but sparingly—Oh horrible!—the design is to oppress the people—to ruin the commerce of the country—to bring on an universal state of bankruptcy and ruin. If they leave their balances outstanding, they are the wickedest mortals living, because they ought to keep their affairs snug, to be ready to wind up. If they call in the said balances, it is monstrous, since the design is to oppress the local banks—to screw them up so tight that they cannot accommodate their own customers. If the Bank extends facilities to the dealers in produce in the great west, it is absolutely shocking, because the great west is all bankrupt, and the Bank can never collect the tythe of its debts. If, on the other hand, the Bank curtails its accommodation paper, and require notes of ninety days instead of one hundred and eighty, it is more shocking still, because the object is to ruin every body beyond the mountains, by preventing the purchase and sale of their produce.—If the Bank suffers its paper to float about with that of other banks, the cry is beware!—It is bankrupt—it can never redeem its notes—even the deposits are not safe! If, on the other hand, it supplies itself with the specie which is its due, Och! murder in Irish! there is a run upon the state banks! What does the mammoth monster want of so much specie!! And so to the end of the chapter. Every thing that the Bank does "is flat burglary"—and there's the humor on't!—N. Y. Com. Adv.

THE REFORM CONVENTION.

The Convention which assembled at Harrisburg, last week, to cogitate ways and means to change the Constitution of this State, has excited little or no attention or conversation among the people here. The time has been when considerable importance was attached to such assemblages, but they have become so common, that like the names of Pompy, Cæsar, &c. they are rather subjects of derision than regard.

The last Harrisburg papers contain the proceedings of the above Convention. They shall appear in our next. Only 16 delegates, from 6 of the counties, attended! George Kreamer, of "cry aloud and spare not" memory, was chosen President—and Mahlon Ortlip and John Reynolds, Vice Presidents—and H. K. Strong and W. J. Mullen, Secretaries. The Convention adjourned on Tuesday morning to meet again on the 8th of January.—Frank. Repos.

It is stated that the four Attorneys employed in the great Quaker case, lately decided in Trenton, received for their services a compensation of $2,500 each.—Frank. Repos.

From Portugal.—We learn from Capt Baker, of the brig Nestor, that when he left St. Ubes, July 20th, it was still in possession of the Miguelites. Of course, the report brought to London, July 31st, by the steam boat African, that Villa Flor had landed a body of troops, who had immediately taken possession of the town, is without foundation. The African is stated to have got this information from the Pedroite fleet, which she spoke six miles from the mouth of the Tagus, on the 22d. The fact is, that as late as the 20th, the Pedroite fleet had never been in sight from St. Ubes, and on the 21st, Captain Baker saw it, consisting of twelve or thirteen sail, about two miles (not six) from the mouth of the Tagus. He passed within a mile of some of the ships—showed his signals, and proceeded. Captain B. further states that there was no actual blockade of St. Ubes, when he left, nor was it then known there that the whole Miguelite coast was declared to be in a state of blockade.

The people of St. Ubes, particularly the higher orders, were decidedly favorable to Don Pedro, and nothing was wanting but the landing of a few of his troops, to secure a movement in his favor. It was perfectly well known there, that Miguel's fleet had been captured, and that the whole territory south of St. Ubes was in the hands of his opposers. St. Ubes is separated from the province of Algarves only by an estuary three miles wide. The distance from Lisbon is abut 15 miles. A considerable number of persons were arriving from Algarves, many of whom were priests. More than 100 men from the fleet of Don Miguel had landed at St. Ubes, and others no doubt at other places along the coast. It was understood that Admiral Napier had released, without condition, all those men belonging to the captured fleet who refused to join him. Much the greater part of them, however, were supposed to have enlisted under the banner of the Queen. The confident expectation at St. Ubes, was, that the whole kingdom would soon be under the dominion of Donna Maria.

P. S. From further conversation with Captain Baker, we learn that the Pedroite fleet was under way at the time he saw it, July 21st, morning, two miles from the mouth of the Tagus, bound in.—This leads us to suspect that there may have been a mistake in the date when it was spoken by the steam boat African, and that it was the 24th, instead of the 22d.—New York Jour. Com.

Extract from a letter from a friend in London to a gentleman in Boston:

"In my last, I spoke of the police in London. It is strange, but true, that a female may walk seven miles (from one end of the town to the other end of the city,) at midnight, with much less risk of insult, than she could from our post office to Winter street at dusk! In the very lowest purlieus of St. Giles', it is safer than in our principal streets; the reason is, the gas enlightens all—the police see all. Then what adds greatly to the full execution of, and regard for, the municipal regulations, is the calling of informers, a number of such profession making it a business to avail themselves of the fines they can compel law breakers to pay at Bow street, the Mansion House, and other offices. The Earl of Liverpool appeared, a few mornings since, before the Mayor, to answer a complaint by Byers, the informer, and was fined, all for not having his Christian and sir name on a vehicle used to break horses, (not laws,) called a breaker, on which was duly printed. "The Earl of Liverpool," &c. These fellows are better City Marshals than our indefatigable friend. Do you ever hear bad news about this country, or its government, or that a crisis is at hand, national debt, taxation, &c. &c.?—There is no danger; no sudden dissolution or revolution will happen. Taxes—why they remind one of the man in the play, who, being charged with debt, said he was able to owe! Never was Great Britain more truly prosperous or a greater nation than she now is; always bating the cringing and bowing of the commoner to the lord, the lord to the duke, the duke to the king, the king to his ministers, and they to the people—in a circle."

ADMIRAL NAPIER.

The London Morning Herald supplies, in extracts from a speech made by Capt. N., when a candidate for Portsmouth, at the recent election, a pleasant account of his former life and services.

"In the course of my canvass," says the gallant Officer, "I have been asked who I am? I'll tell you. I am Captain Charles Napier, who, five and twenty years ago, commanded the Recruit brig, in the West Indies, and who had the honor of being twenty four hours under the guns of three French line of battle ships, flying from a British squadron, the nearest of which, with the exception of the Hawk brig, was from five to six miles astern the greater part of the time. I kept firing double shotted broadsides into them. One of these ships, the Hautpolt, only was captured by the Pompey and Castor—the other two escaped by superiority of sailing. Sir Alexander Cochrane, my Commander in Chief, promoted me on the spot into her. At the siege of Martinique the Æolus, Cleopatra, and Recruit, were ordered to beat up in the night between Pigeon Island and the Main, and anchor close to Fort Edward; the enemy fearing an attack, burnt their shipping. At daylight in the morning it appeared to me that Fort Edward was abandoned; this, however, was doubted; I offered to ascertain the fact, and, with five men, I landed in open day, scaled the walls, and planted the Union Jack on the ramparts. Fortunately I was undiscovered from Fort Bourbon, which stood about 100 yards off, and commanded it. On this being reported to Sir Alexander Cochrane, a regiment was landed in the night, Fort Edward was taken possession of, and the mortars turned against the enemy. I am in possession of a letter from Sir A. Cochrane, saying, 'that my conduct was the means of saving many lives, and of shortening the siege of Martinique.' I had once the misfortune of receiving a precious licking from a French corvette; the first shot she fired broke my thigh, and a plumper carried away my mainmast. The enemy escaped, but the British flag was not tarnished. On my return to England, in command of the Jason, I was turned out of her by a Tory Admiralty, because I had not interest; but, as I could not lead an idle life, I served a campaign with the army in Portugal, as a volunteer, when I was again wounded. At the battle of Busaco I had the honor of carrying off the field my gallant friend and relation Colonel Napier, now near me, who was shot through the face. Busaco was not the only field where he shed his blood. At Corunna he was left for dead; but, thank God, he escaped with six wounds.

On my return to England, I was appointed to the Thames, in the Mediterranean; and if I should bring the inhabitants of the Neapolitan coast into this room, they would tell you that, from Naples to the Faro Point, there was not a spot where I did not leave my marks, and brought off with me upwards of 100 sail of gun boats and merchant vessels. I had the honor of running the Thames and Furieuse into the small mole of Ponza, which was strongly defended, and before they could recover from their surprize, I captured the island without the loss of a man. I then removed to the Euryalus, and had the good fortune to fall in with two French frigates and a schooner. I chased them in the night close into Calvi, in the Island of Corsica, passing close under the stern of one, plumpering her as I passed; and though we were going eight knots, I tried to run aboard of her consort, who was a little outside, standing athwart my hawse; the night was dark, the land close, and she succeeded in crossing me, but I drove her ashore on the rocks where she was totally wrecked, and her consort was obliged to anchor close to her. The Euryalus wore round, and got off, almost brushing the shore as she passed. These ships were afterwards ascertained to be armee en flute, mounting 22 guns each, and the schooner 14. From the Mediterranean I was ordered to America; and if my gallant friend, Sir James Gordon, (the present commissioner of Chatham, and Sheerness Dockyards,) was here he would have told you how I did my duty on that long and arduous service up to the Potomac: he would have told you, that, in a tremendous squall, the Euryalus lost her bowsprit and all her topmasts, and that in 12 hours she was again ready for work. We brought away a fleet from Alexandria, were attacked going down the river by batteries, built close to what was the residence of the great Washington, and I was again wounded in that action in the neck. On the peace taking place, I went on half pay, where I remained till I was appointed to the Galatea, which ship I commanded for three years, on this station; and I hope and trust I have faithfully done my duty during that period to my King and country.

FISHERY NEAR CONSTANTINOPLE.

Nature has been beneficent to the Bosphorus in stocking it with fish of every description, more than sufficient for the daily consumption of the population of Constantinople. Among these the Sword Fish ranks first. Notwithstanding its size, it is delicate eating, and is moreover very fashionable, as being the favorite dish of Sultan Mahmoud. It is chiefly caught in the Bosphorus and the Propontis, rarely in the Hellespont, and still more rarely in the Euxine, or the Archipelago; in the latter of which seas, however, it abounded in 1812, an extensive emigration having taken place, to the alarm of the Constantinople bons vivans, who feared that it would never return, and it was in consequence seriously proposed in divan, to send a vessel down to catch a male and female alive and tow them up to the Bosphorus; but the voluntary return of the fugitives prevented this project from being carried into effect. When properly dressed, sword pointed, it is a regal looking dish, fit to crown a civic banquet. The Palamithe, a large and rather coarse fish, is also esteemed. It is an emigrating species, and found in great plenty in the sea of Azof; the Cossacs salt great quantities of it. There is also Turbot in the Bosphorus, similar to, though not so good as, the English Turbot. It requires habit to relish it, from its back being covered with scaly carbuncles, (considered a dainty by the natives,) which offend the sight. There being no want of Lobsters it can be eaten en regle. Red Mullet Soles and White Bait, are in profusion; likewise the Ink Fish, so called from containing a bag of black liquid, perfectly adapted to write with; remove it, and the taste of the fish resembles that of Skait; it is, however, generally dressed with it as sauce, and therefore few strangers have the courage to eat it; nor does it, after trial, tempt a repetition.—The Greeks make a great consumption of it in their rigorous fasts, for it does not rank as fish.—Slade's Travels.

Curious Atmospheric Phenomenon.—For many years (says Captain Owen) the Flying Dutchman has been a popular superstition, and a source of terror to mariners. Few have often passed the Cape, but can tell their tale what they saw or what others have told them of this mischievous phantom ship. Old seamen still while away the tedious night watch in repeating to their young and marvel looking comrades stories of this water spirit; and many a stout heart quailed, as anxiously they have listened to the freaks of this airy terror. The following circumstance happened to us during this voyage, which called forth many an almost forgotten record of the "Flying Dutchman." On the evening of the 6th April, when off Point Danger, the Barraconta was seen about 3 miles to leeward: struck with the singularity of her being so soon after us, we at first concluded that it could not be she; but the peculiarity of her rigging, and other circumstances convinced us that we were not mistaken; nay, so distinctly was she seen that many well known faces could be observed on deck, looking towards our ship. After keeping thus for some time, we became surprised that she made no effort to join us, but on the contrary, stood away. But being so near to the port to which we were both destined, Capt. Owen did not attach much importance to his proceeding, and we accordingly continued our course. At sunset it was observed that she hove-to, and sent a boat away apparently for the purpose of picking up a man overboard. During the night we could not perceive any light or other indication of her locality. The next morning we anchored by Simon's Bay, where for a whole week, we were in anxious expectation of her arrival; but it afterwards appeared that at this very period the Barraconta must have been about 3 hundred miles from us, and no other vessel of the same class was ever seen about the Cape. This is not told in order to authenticate the stores of fear or fancy, or to add to the visionary terrors of superstition; but it is recorded as a strange and at present unaccountable fact, doubtless attributable to natural and probably simple causes. Time or accident may solve them; but until then, the imagination of those who delight in unaccountable things will picture the phantom ship as an apparition of dreadful and supernatural mystery.—Owen's Narrative.

Suggestions are frequently made and urged with much warmth in the State Veto papers of South Carolina which indicate any thing rather than the quiet intentions which were so confidently expected on the passage of the Compromise Bill. In the Columbia Telescope and the Times, recommendations have been made for a new and efficient military organization of the State. One of them insists upon the necessity of spreading "a military spirit throughout the State by raising a great body of citizen soldiery"— the militia to camp out at last "for ten days," by way of drilling them for active service, and to be paid. What! a 'hired soldiery' in South Carolina? We thought that it had been universally agreed upon among the Nullifiers, that a soldier who is paid for his services is always a "slavish minion of power"—one of the basest of human creatures. Who that remembers the splutterings during the days of the Southern Hartford Convention would have thought a "hired soldiery" one of the standing institutions of the peace establishment of Nullification?—Balt. Amer.

For the First Congressional District, should Dr. Sutherland decline, James Gowen, Esq. will, it is probable, be the candidate of the Independent Democrats, and Benjamin Martin, Esq. of the "Harmony boys."—Penn. Inquirer.

We are happy to learn from the Providence Journal of Thursday, that the Hon. Tristram Burges has been re-elected to Congress by a triumphant majority.

A writer, who declares himself to be a "Royal Arch Mason," of Vermont, has commenced the publication of a series of numbers, addressed to his masonic brethren of that State and the Union, urging the entire abandonment of the Institution.

Memories.—A French professor of the Art of Memory asked his pupils "where Joan of Arc was born." None could tell. "Well then," said professor, "remember she was born at Donremi, near Vaucoulers. And how will you remember this? Remember Don, the Spanish title, as we say Dom or Don Quixote; and, as for Remi, remember the name of St. Remi, Archbishop of Rheims, who consecrated king Clovis. And now for your lesson. Stephanie, my child, where was Joan of Arc born?"

"Monsieur, she was born at Rheims, where she consecrated King Clovis."

"Poh, child; Julius, tell me who was the archbishop of Rheims?"

"Monsieur, he was Don Quixote."

A new political paper is about to be started in Richmond, Va., by Thomas W. White. There are already three political papers in that city. The new one, which is to be triweekly, at $5 per annum, is to be called the "Friend of the Union, and Advocate of State Rights"—not, however, the State Rights which it is pretended that the Virginia resolutions of 1798 expound, but such rights as are clearly defined in, or reserved by, the Federal Constitution, the just protection of which is confided to all the States, in their confederate character; and not to any one discontented member of the Union, who may imagine she has rights incompatible with the rights of the rest, and the common safety of all." This new paper will also take "an unalterable stand against the election of Martin Van Buren; and, preferring Henry Clay, will nevertheless support Benjamin Watkins Leigh, as the next President."

The Salem Mercury says that a mate of a vessel lately returned to that port, and on his arrival, had the pleasure to meet his brother the first time for thirteen years. During all this time they have both sailed from that port on India voyages of the usual length, and have never before happened to be in that or any other port at the same time. It can with truth be said of many of our seafaring brethren, that their "home is on the deep." Some of them, during the space of ten long years, have not opportunity to enjoy the company of their wives and children for ten days.

A gentleman who married a lackadaisical young lady, was visited by an old friend. The lady, after enlarging in an animated strain upon the pleasures of London, had retired for the night, and the friend exclaimed—"Why, Jack, your wife is not so pensive as she used to be"—to which the other replied, with a shrug, "No, she has left that off; she is now ex-pensive."

Wrap Rascal.—The editor of the Salem Advertiser makes it out very clearly that the above term is synonymous with the word EXPEDIENCY. We have not Crabbe at hand, or we would see what he says on the subject. [He who makes use of expediency to cover any evil design, must, it is reasonable to suppose, be a rascal, wrapped up in a garb of hypocrisy.]—N. Y. Gaz.

Natchez, August 9.

THE PLANTING INTEREST.—The information respecting cotton continues to be favorable, and if we might take the liberty we could say to the planters to be busy, and take advantage of present prices and demand, and not depend upon the article maintaining them, or upon its rising in value.—Our papers from New Orleans by last mail are not of the latest dates, and we can only give such information as we get from verbal report.—Seventy five bales of fair cotton sold last week in that city for twenty cents whether for cash or on credit we did not learn. In Natchez, ten bales from Franklin county, generally called street cotton, fair and good, sold for 14 cents—This sale cannot, however, be considered a criterion.—The price may rise or fall within a short period. On Wednesday last, a planter of this county engaged his coming crop to a respectable commercial house in this city, say 300 bales, at 12 1-2 cents. Orders have been received here to engage choice crops from 12 1-2 to 13 1-2 cents to be delivered from 1st of September to 1st October next.

Early Cotton Picking.—White Purpin, Esq. of this county, has commenced picking cotton. One of his negroes yesterday picked ninety eight lbs.

The Lynchburg Virginian remarks—"Mr. Leigh cannot get the vote even of Virginia, notwithstanding the clamor of his lowland friends—that is certain. West of the Blue Ridge, the people are united against him, almost to a man; and east of that line, he will find a vast and influential body of opponents. In North Carolina and Alabama, the recent elections have shown that the principles of the Proclamation are completely in the ascendant; and in Georgia, we are assured by a gentleman resident in that State, Calhounism will be prostrated at the October elections, by nearly two to one. Where, then, is Mr. Leigh to get votes enough to carry him to the House?"

REVIEW OF THE PHILADA. MARKET,

For the week ending on Friday Evening.

FLOUR & MEAL.—The demand for superfine flour for export, has been but to a limited extent, the sales reported during the week being about 2,000 barrels at $5 75 a $6, the latter price paid for favorite brands; some other sales have been made of favorite brands, but the particulars have not been reported. The receipts continue limited, and do not keep pace with the demand for export and consumption, and holders are firm at $5 75. About 1,000 barrels rye flour have been sold at $3 62 1-2 a $3 75, about 300 barrels of which sold at $3 62 1-2 a $3 68 3-4, the remainder at $3 75; last sale to day at the latter price, at which it is now held. Upwards of 1,000 barrels of corn meal have been sold at $3 25, but no transactions in hhds for the last two weeks.

DOMESTIC GOODS.—The demand continues good for Bleached and Brown goods, at former quotations; the sales for Printed goods have been brisk, and some improvement in prices has been obtained, the stock on hand being not quite equal to the demand.

WOOL.—Several parcels were sold in the early part of the week, at former prices; holders are now asking higher and have refused these prices, and are firm in their demands. The sales, although limited, have reduced the stock in the market.

SUGAR.—Holders have advanced their prices, and in some instances their demands have been submitted to. The sales reported are 360 boxes Brown Havana at $8 75, 4 and 6 mos.; 125 hhds. Porto Rico at $9 50 a $9 62½ a $10, principally at the latter prices; 170 hhds. New Orleans, $9 a $9 50, 4 mos., and a lot of 25 hhds., very inferior, at $8 50, on short credit.

BRADDOCK'S FIELD

Edgeworth Young Ladies' Seminary.

ANOTHER year, the seventh of this Institution, has terminated, under circumstances pleasing in the retrospect, and replete with successful result.

In taking leave of those young ladies whose allotted time has expired, the relation of teacher and pupil of course ceases, but feelings of kindness, and desire for friendly intercourse, with mutual prosperity, will ever exist.

Health, the first of earthly blessings, has been so extraordinary, as to make Braddock's Field proverbial as a place for its enjoyment; and the additional buildings and arrangements have given satisfaction to all. We therefore announce, with gratitude, the prosperity of the Institution, in the present public manner.

On the 18th proximo, (September) it is intended to resume the engagements of the Seminary, but with a limited number.

It is intended, that, except as vacancies occur, no more pupils shall be received the next session, than those whose names remain on the list, or who are considered as engaged. This arrangement, it is presumed, will receive the approval of our friends.

The same course of studies will be pursued as particularized in former notices—and the terms continue unaltered, viz.

Pupilage, with reference to all the English branches,	$150
Tuition in Music and Drawing,	50

No extras but washing and stationery.

Braddock's Field, Sept. 3, 1833.

PROSPECT HILL

Literary & Scientific Institution.

PITTSBURGH, Pa.

ON the 1st of July, Mr. DANIEL STONE intends opening, near the City of Pittsburgh, an Institution for the instruction of boys. Its plan is to combine, as far as possible, the peculiar advantages of a domestic and public education.—The pupils, with the principal and assistants, will constitute one family, and be at all times under careful supervision. The Discipline will be mild, but strict, such as a father, solicitous for the welfare of his children, would exercise over them. It is believed that an appeal to reason, and the sense of honor and duty, will generally secure obedience. Coercive measures will, therefore, be adopted only in extreme cases.

The Course of Study will embrace the English, Latin, Greek, and French Languages; Arithmetic, Algebra, and Geometry; Geography and History—Ancient and Modern; Rhetoric, Composition, and Elocution; Natural Philosophy and Chemistry; Penmanship, Orthography, and Reading. Frequent examinations will be held, open to the friends and relations of the youths.

The Mode of Instruction will be thorough and critical, and no subject will be relinquished until fully understood. That the scholar's mind may become vigorous, active, and self-confident—prepared for the stern conflicts of life, and a fearless discharge of its duties, he will be encouraged to reason and decide for himself.

Each student will be required to attend such church as his parent or guardian shall designate.

To preserve health and elasticity of spirits, to check indolence, and promote industry among the students, they will be daily exercised in athletic sports.

Pupils will be admitted between the ages of Six and Sixteen. None can be received for less than one term.

The uniform Dress will consist of a cap, blue roundabout, with metal buttons, and blue pantaloons. Every article of clothing should be marked with the owner's name in full.

The Terms are two hundred dollars a year, payable quarterly in advance. This includes Tuition, Board, Lodging, Washing, Mending, Light, and Fuel.

The Vacations, after the present year, will be three—the 1st, of two weeks, from the 3d Wednesday in April; the 2d, of four weeks, from the 2d Wednesday in August; and one week at Christmas.

The Matron's department will be under the care of Mrs. Reynolds, of this city.

PERIODICALS.

AMERICAN RAILROAD JOURNAL, and Advocate of Internal Improvements, which is designed as a repository of the accounts of the rise and progress of numerous works of Internal Improvement, in the United States particularly, and in other parts of the world generally. The work is published weekly, and forms a large octavo volume each year, of 832 pages of 3 columns each, for $3 per annum, in advance.

New York Farmer, and American Gardener's Magazine. This work is designed for the agriculturist, and will be found to contain much, both interesting and profitable, to those who cultivate the soil as a business, or merely a garden for amusement. Published in monthly parts of 32 large octavo pages, with three columns each, at $3 per annum, in advance.

Mechanics' Magazine, and Register of Improvements and Inventions. To the Mechanics of the United States---In this populous and enlightened country, almost every description of persons can obtain knowledge and amusement connected with their peculiar pursuits, through the medium of the Journal or Magazine, especially devoted to their interests. The Theologian, the Farmer, the Philosopher, the Sportsman, and even the Plough Boy, has each his Journal, where he can find a record of the passing events of the day, connected with his peculiar avocations and recreations. Hitherto, the Mechanics (who form a large and most important portion of the community) have had no Journal, to which they could turn, with the certainty of finding that information they desire, no periodical of which they could say: 'This is ours, and for us.' In the hope that the attempt to supply such a want at a price so reasonable as to be within the reach of all, will meet with your active support, the subscriber proposes to publish, on the first day of each month, a Mechanics' Magazine. It will contain a well digested selection of the most useful and interesting articles in the London Mechanics' Magazine, London Register of Arts and Sciences, Repertory of Inventions, Library of Useful Knowledge, Journal of the Franklin Institute, and other works, connected with the arts and manufactures, published in this country and in Europe, accompanied with numerous and well executed Engravings. Its pages will be open for the communications of all, and especially for those of the practical artisan, to whose interest it will be particularly devoted. The Mechanics' Magazine will contain, also, a due portion of the occurrences of the month, Scientific and Literary Reviews of Books, Anecdotes, Economical Receipts, Reports of the state of Mechanics' Institutions, and other Scientific Societies in this state and other countries. To be published monthly. Each succeeding number will contain 64 pages, handsomely printed, and stitched in a neat cover. Six numbers will form a volume, for which an index and title page will be supplied, and also a Portrait of some distinguished Mechanic, as a Frontispiece. Terms, $3 per annum, in advance.

D. K. MINOR,
Wall street, New York.

☞ Subscriptions for the above works, (where a specimen of each can be seen.) will be received at

S. J. SYLVESTER'S,
Corner of Wood and Third streets.

HAT MANUFACTORY,
NO. 6 ST. CLAIR STREET,
PITTSBURGH.

WILSON & SMITH, from N. York,

RESPECTFULLY inform the citizens of Pittsburgh and the neighboring towns, that they have commenced the manufacture of the above beautiful and elegant article, so much admired and worn throughout Europe, and the principal cities in the United States.

W. & S. beg leave to observe, that, after various experiments, they have at last succeeded in bringing this Hat to the highest state of perfection, and they can assert, with confidence, that in point of color, lightness, elasticity, durability, and general beauty of appearance, they cannot be surpassed by the most expensive Hat that is made. Gentlemen are invited to call and examine them, and judge for themselves.

Wholesale Dealers supplied at the same prices as in the New York markets.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S

☞ WELCH MEDICAMENTUM. ☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,
From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.

UTICA, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer is vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞ A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S
COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes givingt emporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradually increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in all cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.

PATENT PLANING MACHINE.—The right to use this valuable machine, invented and patented by William Woodworth, and known as Woodworth's Patent Planing Machine, may be obtained on application to the subscriber for the counties of Allegheny, Butler, Beaver, Washington, Green, Fayette, Somerset, Cambria, Indiana, Jefferson, Clearfield, M'Kean, Warren, Venango, Mercer, Crawford, and Erie, in the State of Pennsylvania. That part of Maryland lying west of the Blue Ridge; all that part of Virginia lying west of the Blue Ridge, except the county of Ohio. The whole of the state of Ohio except the counties of Hamilton, Butler, and Montgomery. The whole of the state of Kentucky, except the counties of Jefferson, Boone, Oldham, Gallatin, and Campbell. The whole of Indiana, except the counties of Floyd, Clark, Jefferson, Dearborn, and Switzerland. The whole of the state of Illinois, and the territory of Michigan. Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE.

THE Subscriber offers for sale the farm on which he lives, in Washington county, on Pigeon creek, one mile south of Williamsport, on the Monongahela river, to which there is a perfectly level road. This farm contains near 400 acres, the greater part of which is first rate land. There is on the premises a Brick Dwelling House, a Merchant mill, in good repair, a new saw mill, a stone still house, 35 by 40 feet; a salt works is also in operation, and worked to advantage; about 150 acres of land cleared and under good fence. There is on the premises three small tenements for the accommodation of families. This tract is well timbered, and abounds with stone coal and springs of water, both of the best quality.

To a person wishing to embark in a manufacturing business, and possessing capital, this would be a very desirable situation, having the advantage of both water power from Pigeon creek, and banks of the very best coal near to the works, and easy of access, and its vicinity to so navigable a river, where articles of any kind are so cheaply transported to Pittsburgh.

For further particulars, apply to James P. Stuart, Merchant, Wood street, Pittsburgh, or to the subscriber on the premises.

In all cases where the passengers desire to reach Baltimore in time for the 5 o'clock steam-boat to Philadelphia, they can do so by leaving Chambersburgh at one o'clock in the morning, or immediately after the arrival of the Western Mail Stage. In this way, they arrive in Philadelphia, by eight o'clock the second morning, from Chambersburgh.

☞ When a load offers, the stage will run on Mondays. April 23, 1830.—tf.

TYPE FOUNDRY.

HAVING purchased of Mr. Richard Ronaldson, his long established and very extensive Type Foundry, the subscribers have formed a co-partnership for the purpose of continuing said business, and for the convenience of their friends and patrons, have removed their establishment to a more central part of the city. As it is their intention to keep on hand a good assortment of the best type, and to make such additions and improvements as the taste of the trade and the wants of the country require, they flatter themselves that this establishment will merit a large share of patronage. They have now several founts on hand, which can be furnished at a few hours' notice, and are prepared to make founts of all weights and sizes, from Pearl to 22 lines Pica, including a variety of Ornamental Letter. Their assortment of Cuts, Dashes, Brass Rule, and other Ornaments, will be found to be very extensive, of which specimens will be forwarded to Printers as soon as they can be prepared.

Printing Presses of every description, Printing Ink of the most approved qualities, Composing Sticks, Brass and Common Galleys, Chases, Imposing Stones, Cases, Paper and Press Boards, Standing Presses, Furniture, together with a complete assortment of all articles used in a Printing Office, will be kept constantly on hand.

Small founts, suitable for Book Binders, in great variety, may be had when called for.

Orders from all parts in the Union will be promptly and most carefully attended to, and particularly in supplying sorts for all founts furnished by their predecessors, Binny & Ronaldson, and Richard Ronaldson.
